

Foreword

It gives me immense pleasure to write the Foreword of IRHRL's Second Issue. Since the journal's inception in 2015, efforts have been made for its continuous improvement. The composition of the Editorial Board of the Second Issue bears testimony of the efforts.

Despite improvements in the composition of the Editorial Board and diverse range of contributors, I feel that we have a long way to go for reaching the desired level of excellence in publication. That said, our consistent efforts have helped us in progressing significantly in comparison with the First Issue.

I thank all the members of the Editorial and Advisory Board for their valuable support. I am also grateful to all the authors for their trust in the Editorial Board. The aim of the journal is to make positive difference in the lives of people by providing solutions to pressing human rights issues. I sincerely hope that one day we might be successful in our efforts to assist those whose rights are systematically suppressed due to frailties in the current legal system.

I look forward to presenting the next issue before you. Kindly send us your valuable suggestions for improving the journal.

Thank you for reading the Foreword.

Yours sincerely

Aditya Shukla

Managing Editor of International Review of Human Rights Law